

WILL PEACE FOLLOW DIAZ RESIGNATION, IS QUESTION TODAY

MANY BELIEVE THAT CONDITIONS IN MEXICO DO NOT CAR-OUT THIS SUPPOSITION

LEFT FOR THE CAPITOL

Madero to Aid in Reorganization of the Government Under De La Barra—Will Also Realign His Pretension to Office.

Junco, Mex., May 18.—Francisco I. Madero, Jr., today announced the news from Mexico City was so entirely satisfactory to him it might be universally proclaimed that peace through-out Mexico is now an accomplished fact.

Madero will accept the offer to go to Mexico City to act as Chief Adviser to Minister of Foreign Relations, De La Barra, who will become President and Interior.

As the date for the withdrawal from office of President Diaz and Vice President Corral has been definitely fixed for June 1st, it will not be necessary for the insurgents to institute provisional governors or provisional members of the cabinet for the intervening time, but the fact that Madero will act with De La Barra in the reorganization of the government will be accepted as a sufficient guarantee of the success of the revolution.

Sends Message.
Madero today sent a personal message to President Diaz congratulating him upon his patriotic action in resigning from the presidency, and stating that he, himself, would resign the provisional presidency as soon as De La Barra is in office, thus clearing the way for the reorganization of government and the new general election.

Go to Mexico.
Madero today announced that he had to leave for Mexico City within forty-eight hours to cooperate with the Government in restoring peace.

Up to Government.
Mexico City, May 18.—The government has drafted a law for the election of President Diaz's successor, which provides the choice shall be made by a majority of the senate and deputies in joint convention. Formerly the mayors of cities controlled the election, but under the new law they must keep their hands off.

Terrible Massacre.
Cullacan, Mex., May 18.—A battle lasting twelve days resulted in the capitulation of the federal garrison at Corral to the insurgents. The battle was one of the most sanguinary of the war. The defenders were given no opportunity to bury their dead and the bodies lay in the tropical sun until the situation became such that the federal commander was forced to surrender.

Not United Press.
Mexico City, Mexico, May 18.—Whether the promise of President Diaz and Vice President Corral, to resign before June 1, has come in time to restore peace throughout the country, is the most important question here today. Many students of Mexican affairs doubt it.

South Africa.
Madero and his followers in the north are willing to lay down their arms, but the entire south is alarmed. The states of Queretaro, Morelos, Chihuahua, and Sonora are in a state of revolution and there the insurgents hate and distrust Madero. They have their own grievances. Whether they will accept the peace terms offered by the Diaz government is a grave question.

Figures Ready.
General Figueroa, is today south of the capital with three thousand insurgent troops. Word has been sent to him and it is hoped he will cease hostilities.

To Capitol.
It is reported Madero will be summoned to the capital at once to talk the signing of peace terms.

General Arrives.
23 Paso, Texas, May 18.—With a general amnesty in effect throughout the entire republic of Mexico until May 22, and the announcement that Diaz will retire from the presidency by June 1, the end of bloody warfare was positively seen in Junco today.

Seeks Europe.
Havana, Cuba, May 18.—Rafael Chausse, private secretary to President Diaz of Mexico, here today announced he was going to Europe to make arrangements for an indefinite stay of President Diaz and family.

Live in Fear.
San Francisco, May 18.—Refugees arriving today on the Pacific liner "City of Panama," declared that thirty thousand Americans on the west coast of Mexico are living in daily fear of assassination by bandits.

GOVERNMENT'S CASES TO SUFFER GREATLY

Decision of Supreme Court in Oil Cases With "Unreasonable" Clause Will Hurt Other Suits.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The government's suits now in embryo or well under way against the Beef, Bath Tub, Steel, Electrical, Coal, Paper, Window Glass, Steamship and Sugar trusts and many other more minor prosecutions, received a serious setback today by the ruling of the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil case, that a combination in restraint of trade to be illegal must be proved "unreasonable."

Work for months and even years on the part of special agents of the department of justice will have to be done over to a certain extent, it is charged. Evidence showing "restraint of trade" which in itself was sufficient to cause convictions in a great many cases, was rendered incomplete with the supreme court ruling. It is stated possible that many of the smaller suits instituted by the department against trusts may have to be abandoned.

The "unreasonable" feature of the law will be tested in particular in the cases against the beef trust. Attorneys for the Beef trust recently filed a demurrer to a decision against them, written entirely around the word "unreasonable."

ANDREW CARNEGIE SCORED CLASSICS

Venerable Ironmaster Says Graduate in Classics Not Fit for Bottom of the Ladder.

(BY UNITED PRESS.)

New Haven, Conn., May 18.—Andrew Carnegie puts a ban on college education in classics for young men or women who are forced to seek a living in the industrial world. Writing on the subject for the current issue of the Yale News, the ironmaster says:

"I do not think that I under-rate the genius which the early literature of our race holds. But why spend your precious youth on those things which in after life will only give food and clothing to a chosen few. In the majority of cases the average college graduate knows neither what to do or what way to turn if he is thrown on his own resources. He has to learn much of what he has learned. He is even untrained to start at the bottom of the ladder."

CONGRESSMEN TELL ABOUT THEMSELVES

INTERESTING STATISTICS ON LIVES OF NATION'S REPRESENTATIVES IN NEW CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTORY.

OCCUPATIONS GIVEN

Lawyers Are Greatest in Numbers and They Are Followed by the Farmers—Bankers Third.

Washington, May 18.—A neat little study in biographies has just been issued by the Government Printing Office. It is a hefty red-bound volume of 475 pages, called officially, "The Congressional Directory."

A goodly part of the book is devoted to the biographies of the congressmen and senators. They are all autobiographies; or at least prepared by friends of the subject. They range from seventeen words, contributed by Rep. Redfield, of New York, as his life history, to 551 words, embracing the events which marked the career of Charles McNulty, Stedman, of North Carolina.

The senatorial biographies are less interesting to the reader after knowledge that those submitted by members of the lower house, and particularly the new members. There are a good many who don't hesitate to cheapen themselves on themselves. Among these is Adam Brown, Littlepage, of West Virginia, who remarks:

"He (that is, himself) bears the reputation of being a very grateful man, never forgetting a kindness, and if faithful in his friendships and thoroughly reliable. He stands for the under man in life. Works hard, late and early as a congressman, and is reflecting credit upon the country by his mainly conservative and wise course in Washington as a representative of the people. He is a patriotic man, of ability and fine qualities of mind and heart."

Rep. Ezekiel Candler, of Mississippi, who is a veteran member, says proudly that his family "have been prominently identified with the history of the state from the days of the Revolution up to and including the present."

Rep. James Alexander Daugherty, of Missouri, sets down the fact that he is regarded as one of the strong men in the Missouri delegation. (Rep. J. J. Kindred, declares in his sketch, that he "has in no sense been a politician." Rep. Charles E. Patton, of Pennsylvania declares that "his agricultural experiments have been of great benefit to the community."

A careful count of the biographies of the members of the House reveals the fact that out of the 338 representatives, delegates and commissioners, 241 are lawyers. Twenty-six members profess to state the nature of their business, so this is not a complete count.

Next to lawyers, in point of number, come the farmers. There are 28 of them. Many are only agriculturalists on the side, however. The bankers list totals 22. Then come the newspaper men. There are 15 of these, besides one "journalist." Rep. Sherwood, (Dem. Ohio), and two "publishers." (Rep. R. L. and Underhill (Dem. N. Y.).

Ten members of the House are "manufacturers." Eight are lumbermen. Five were teachers, in school or college, up to the time of their being chosen representatives. There are several score others who formerly taught school, and later studied law.

(Rep. Foster, (Dem. Ill.), Wilson, (Dem. N. Y.), Kindred, (Dem. N. Y.), Pashley, (Dem. N. C.) and Barcliff (Rep. Pa.) are physicians. Rep. Diederfer, (Dem. Pa.) is a practicing dentist. At least four members were court stenographers, Palmer, (Dem. Pa.), Byrnes, (Dem. S. C.), Kendall, (Rep. Iowa), and Alkon, (Dem. S. C.). Three say they were commercial telegraphers—McDermott, (Dem. Ill.), Smith, (Dem. N. Y.) and Cary (Rep. Wis.). Rep. Lee, (Dem. Pa.) simply says he is a "business man."

Five congressmen were at one time "knights of the road" and "drummed" in various sections. Three are real estate operators; three own coal colonies; one is a petroleum operator; three are authors—Edward W. Tamm, (Dem. N. J.), of "Chimney Fadden" fame, Stephen H. Ayres, (Dem. N. Y.) and Henry George, Jr., (Dem. N. Y.).

In the miscellaneous class are: Calder, (Rep. N. Y.), builder; Furness, (Dem. N. Y.), woolen manufacturer; Hartman, (Rep. Pa.), iron manufacturer; Lefauve, (Rep. Pa.), candy manufacturer, known as the "Chocolate King"; Howell, (Rep. Utah), merchant; Lindsay, (Dem. N. Y.), hotel business; Mahor, (Dem. N. Y.), hat maker; Lewis, (Dem. Md.), Daugherty, (Dem. Mo.) and Cameron, (Rep. Ariz.) are miners; Conley, (Dem. Ill.), is in the raw and electric lighting business; Gallagher, (Dem. Ill.) is a hat dealer; Buchanan, (Dem. Ill.) is a structural iron worker; Kennedy, (Rep. Iowa), is a nurseryman.

There are six members of the House who were the confederate gray in the civil war—Tucker, (Dem. Colo.), Estephal, (Dem. La.), Talbott, (Dem. Md.), Stedman, (Dem. N. C.), Gordon, (Dem. Tenn.), and Lamb, (Dem. Va.). Five others served in the union side—Thistlewood, (Rep. O.), Bradley, (Rep. N. Y.), Sherwood, (Dem. O.), Bingham, (Rep. Pa.), and Hill, (Rep. Conn.). Bradley was awarded a medal for gallantry, and Sherwood and Bingham both advanced for conspicuous bravery.

Thirteen members served in the Spanish-American war, either in Cuba, the Philippines, or in the campaign in the United States. They are: Tilton, (Rep. Conn.), Howard, (Dem. Ga.), Stone, (Dem. Ill.), Ames, (Rep. Mass.), Gardner, (Rep. Mass.), Murray, (Dem. Mass.), Weeks, (Rep. Mass.), Lord, (Rep. Mich.), Anderson, (Rep. Mich.), Harrison, (Dem. N. Y.), (Continued on page 4.)

QUIET IS GENERAL IN TOBACCO TRADE

THIS SEASON OF THE YEAR BRINGS A LULL IN LOCAL TOBACCO BUSINESS.

FEW SALES REPORTED

Movement of Goods Is Confined to Several Dealers—Weather Continues Most Favorable to Growing Plants.

With this time of the year, there comes a general season of quiet in the local tobacco market, which continues to the middle of the summer when buyers begin to look for new offerings and speculation is started upon the price, which will be offered for the crop in the fields. This season of quietness is now upon Wisconsin and notes of the trade are few and far between. For this brief period tobacco men rest from the more arduous care of the business and turn their attention to other happenings.

Some discussion is heard regarding the United States supreme court decision in the Standard Oil case and some speculation is advanced as to the probable effect it will have on the decision which is looked for in the near future regarding the Tobacco Trust. Various opinions are expressed among the tobacco men as well as among those in other lines but the former are looking forward to the coming decision with a greater degree of expectancy.

Some of the dealers use this season of inactivity to take where pleasure trips and some turn their attention to the work of the day in the growing of the new crop. As a rule they feel generally free at this time after the strenuousness of the packing season.

But two houses here have any more work in the packing of the new crop—F. S. Barnes and G. H. Russell. However, it is expected that they will finish in a short time. The former dealer received another carload of the Pennsylvania crop this week and this will be bulked and averted in the immediate future.

Practically the only buyer of the week from eastern points at least, who has been in Jansville, is Sam Krus, of Pittsburg, Mo. He is in the firm are reported here and also in Edgerton where he visited earlier in the week. Of the dealers here S. B. Hodges has sold two car loads and G. H. Russell shipped a lot of 41 cases yesterday.

Weather continues favorable to the growing plants and everything is favorable to an early planting season. The rains of the early part of the week were a boon to the growers and with these present warm days nothing is left for the young plants to do but to grow. Not only have they taken on more than four leaves, but where conditions are most favorable they have ceased to hug the ground, but are pushing upwards with astonishing rapidity.

With the general prospects of this season and the entire state in favor of the tobacco crop, it is not surprising that the transplanting work has been quick and undoubtedly a superior texture, as well as an early curing season.

With the weather conditions favoring the growth of the plants, weeds have also taken advantage of the growing weather and many beds are in need of immediate attention. Growers are usually quick to realize the necessity of freeing the beds of weeds to allow an untrammelled growth of the tobacco plants. Farmers will be busy now for some days in this occupation.

NO MORE DANDELIONS TO SPOIL THE LAWN

Agricultural Experts Discover Cure
for This Evil—Advice Certain Kind of Spraying.

If there is a Jansville householder who has not become discouraged over the failure to eradicate the dandelion from his yard let him step forth. However, the following article, taken from a Minneapolis paper, gives a sure and certain cure for the trouble and should be read carefully. The Prof. H. L. Bailey, referred to in the article, is a brother-in-law of F. S. Hodges of this city. The article is as follows:

"Eradication of the dandelion, with its tendency to become ubiquitous in the cultivation of lawns—once smooth and green and to the despair of persons who try to eliminate the pest by hand, is practised through sure and easy methods by Professor A. D. Wilson of the university farm school; H. W. Fisher, horticulturist at the agricultural college at Boxman, Mont.; and Professor H. L. Bailey of the North Dakota agricultural college, following experiments with solutions of sulphate of iron or copper. Sprayed with the right solution the dandelions promptly shrivel up and die, and a general use of the solution, it is said, will mean a solution of the dandelion problem.

Hand Process Laborious. Getting the dandelion in hand by the use of a hoe to dig the plants up slowly by the roots is a discouraging process, and usually by the time part of the crop has been put out of the way the rest has come to seed, and the white fluffy balls sow a bigger crop than ever with the first strong breeze.

"With the sulphate solution the plants not only are killed in the bud, but seem to evaporate into thin air. The grass, which is bound to be killed eventually by the intruders of the dandelion, is not harmed by the use of the solution.

"Directions for killing the dandelions given out by farm school professors read in part as follows: 'The iron sulphate, or copper, as it is commonly known, can be purchased, and is used at a rate of 1½ to 2 pounds to one gallon of water. The solution should be applied soon after the iron sulphate is dissolved, as there is a chemical reaction which takes place soon after it is dissolved; and if left standing too long it loses its power to kill the dandelions. It should not stand more than three or four hours. The solution is not spontaneous to handle, but will discolor from iron and clothing, and reasonable care should be taken in applying it about houses where there are iron fences and stone foundations and walks.

"When the spray solution is properly made and applied, the dandelions can be killed without injury to the grass or white clover, except that the leaves of the clover may be spotted a little for a time, rarely enough, however, to disfigure a lawn. By keeping the lawn closely cut and well watered it will quickly recover from any injury. The spaces where dandelions are killed should be seeded at once with blue grass seed to fill up the vacant ground and prevent weeds from germinating. The solution should be strained through a fine sieve or cloth into the spray can so that no material can get into the pump to clog it up.

Eliminate in One Season.

"As a result of the experiments it has been found that it is impossible for the dandelion roots to live more than one season without iron leaves, and spraying about once in six weeks, or whenever the leaves start to grow, will eliminate the pest in a season. 'The solution cannot be successfully applied with a sprinkling can,' according to the agricultural school bulletins, 'as the large drops will not stay on the leaves. Spraying should be done when the wind is not blowing, and when the sky is partly cloudy. The lawn should be well watered several hours before the solution is applied, so that the grass can dry, but the roots will be moist enough to receive the solution time to do its work.' 'Solutions of various strengths have been used to kill Canada thistle, wild mustard and other weeds.'

LITERARY SOCIETY GAVE FINE PROGRAM

Members of Philatolian Society Gave Interesting Program at Morning
Exercises at High School.

Morning exercises at the high school this morning were in the hands of the Philatolian literary society, one of the two girls' societies of the school, and the members gave a very good program in honor of the International Peace movement of today.

Mary McGregor presided during the program and with a few brief statements of introduction, introduced the first speaker, Elsie Davis. Miss Davis briefly outlined the peace movement, which was started by the War of 1861-1865, and represented at his court to send delegates to a conference to be held in The Hague, Holland. The conference was to discuss the question of arbitration, the Red Cross movement and the reduction of the cost of war.

Miss Venera, Spengler, gave a short reading, which contributed to the thought of the program, entitled, 'Mars Must Die.' After this Francis Hall told of the costs of war and what the same money might do in the way of education. Nellie Bungeitler next told of the distinguished people who have added the peace movement, including Washington, Webster, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Grant, Duke of Wellington, Carnegie, and Taft.

At the conclusion of the program, a chorus of Philatolian girls sang the 'Peace Song,' which was composed especially for the Philatolian girls to sing on this occasion, by Mrs. Georgia C. Hyde.

As Galsworthy Saw Life.

The wisdom of John Galsworthy: Like flies caught among the impalpable and smoky threads of cobwebs, so men struggle in the webs of their own nature, giving here a start, there a pitiful small jerking, long sustained, and falling into stillness.

VOLUMES ON SUMMER TRAVEL AT LIBRARY

Many Good Books At Library on Ways and Means of Travelling in This Country and Abroad.

This time of the year is conducive to planning trips for the summer vacation. Even if one can not afford the time for or the expense of a trip, it is a pleasure to plan and read about the places one would like to visit. The Public Library has a fine collection of books of travel. There are guide books; books on the large cities; books describing the wonderful scenery in this country and abroad; books on any town or country, that is of most interest to the individual concerned.

If the tour is to Europe, the Library can furnish many booklets to the different European countries, and the United States. The following list shows the variety of guide books: Central Italy, Great Britain, Northern and Southern France, Northern and Southern Germany, Switzerland, and the United States, Cuba, Porto Rico, Mexico and Alaska. One can read about the steamship lines and the road steamers to be taken. Information regarding expenses, travel necessities, outfits and even travel costumes can be found in these very valuable travel books.

If the vacation is to be spent in the northern woods, or at the lakes, there are books on all these topics. There can be found suggestions and plans for making camps and establishing summer cottages. Reading lists upon any particular point of interest of locality will be gladly furnished, upon placing a request for same at the Library desk.

Edgerton, May 18.—The American Cigar company, after a heavy run of four months, has closed for the season and this evening the force of 500 men and fifty hands will be given tickets to the Lyric theatre by the manager, C. A. Hoan. The company has paid out in wages over $20,000 during the four months' run.

Sugar Beet Prospects.
That the growing of sugar beets in this section is on the increase is shown from the fact that the total acreage this year is 200 acres to that of 120 acres last year. Henry Buck, of this city, who represents the Rock County Sugar Beet company in this section, superintended the entire planting and will finish today. The time consumed is twelve days.

Personal Mention.
Charles Haven went to Milwaukee yesterday afternoon and will return today.

Misses Eva Johnson and Emily Watson are Jansville visitors today.

Mrs. George Vickers and Mrs. James Spilke went to Jansville this morning to spend the day.

Mr. and Mrs. August Toubert, for the past twenty-seven years residents of this city, have rented their residence, property and soon will go to Jansville to take up their home with their son, Albert Toubert and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pringle and the lady's mother, Mrs. Louis Puerner, left Wednesday night for Redfield, S. D., on a visit to relatives there for a number of weeks.

Beef Barons Are Permitted by Judge to File Motion to Reopen Their Case.

Chicago, May 18.—The Chicago beef barons who are under indictment, charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust act, have taken the preliminary steps to have a rehearing of their case.

Judge Carpenter in the United States district court granted them permission to file a motion for a rehearing on the demurrers to the indictments.

Judge Carpenter refused to hear oral arguments on the motion and directed the attorneys to file briefs within one week. He then stated what he considered to be a fair construction of the Sherman law in view of the Supreme court's decision in the Standard Oil case, on which the plea of the packers for a rehearing was based.

Commenting on the fact that the motion concerned only the "unreasonable" restraint of trade feature in the Supreme court decision, Judge Carpenter cast gloom over the camp of the packers' attorneys by saying the Supreme court must regard the Sherman act, under which the indictments were found, as a penal statute.

PACKERS WIN CHANCE TO GET NEW HEARING

Chicago, May 18.—The Chicago beef barons who are under indictment, charged with violating the Sherman anti-trust act, have taken the preliminary steps to have a rehearing of their case.

Judge Carpenter in the United States district court granted them permission to file a motion for a rehearing on the demurrers to the indictments.

Judge Carpenter refused to hear oral arguments on the motion and directed the attorneys to file briefs within one week. He then stated what he considered to be a fair construction of the Sherman law in view of the Supreme court's decision in the Standard Oil case, on which the plea of the packers for a rehearing was based.

Commenting on the fact that the motion concerned only the "unreasonable" restraint of trade feature in the Supreme court decision, Judge Carpenter cast gloom over the camp of the packers' attorneys by saying the Supreme court must regard the Sherman act, under which the indictments were found, as a penal statute.

He declared that in passing on section 4 and 7 of the act the court must necessarily have approved the other sections.

James H. Wilkerson, counsel for the government, was elated over the turn of affairs as indicated by the remarks of Judge Carpenter. It was said that the government had no fear as to the outcome of the effort of the packers' counsel to quash the proceedings, or even delay the trial through an application of the decision in the Standard Oil case.

Washington, D. C.—Anthony Jannus, the aviator, fell into the Potomac river, April 15, from the Rex Smith biplane. He was trying out a new invention of pontoons for aeroplanes and was trying to start from the water when the weight of the pontoons overbalanced the machine and it turned turtle. He was carried under the water and imprisoned there by the wires and planes of the machine, but succeeded in getting loose and came to the surface, where he was picked up by a launch. He suffered no injury, but was hurried to the hospital for dry clothes. He says he will try it again as soon as they get the machine repaired.

SPEED KING AND HIS MASK.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Bob Burman, world's speed king, has devised a unique mask to protect his face during the thrilling drives in his monster Benz. He has travelled faster than any other man ever dared, covering almost two and one-half miles per minute. This speed is not conducive to the best of complexion, and when seen in the newspapers' race at Indianapolis on Memorial day he will wear his adjustable mask to protect his face.

SCORES CLUB SNOBS IN LENGTHY SPEECH

TAFT DENOUNCES BLACKBALLING AND DISRUPTS METROPOLITAN AT CAPITAL.

THREE RESIGN FROM BOARD

President's Attack on "Small Heads" in Talk to Jews Is Traced to Turning Down of Representative Littleton and Senator Watson.

Washington, May 18.—There has developed an unprecedented flurry in club circles here, especially at the Metropolitan club, as a result of President Taft's speech at the Jewish Temple, in which he strongly denounced the practice of social clubs blackballing or barring members because they were self-made men.

The president's language and references pointed unmistakably to the recent action of the Metropolitan club here in refusing admittance to Martin W. Littleton, representative from New York, and Senator C. W. Watson of West Virginia.

The president's remarks were prompted by the statement of Rev. Madison Peters of New York who preceded him. Rev. Mr. Peters said that Jews were excluded from exclusive clubs because they were Jews.

Compliments the Jews.

"I believe, and I am proud of the fact, that the Jews in America enjoy an equality that they have in few other countries of the world. I do not mean to say that there are not racial prejudices here; I don't mean to say that there are not social clubs and other places where the small-headed men who occasionally get into a directory manifest their grudge by using a blackball and shutting out men of importance in the community; but, my friends, while it is aggravating and exasperating, still it is not the worst thing that could happen. I have had it happen to friends of mine—Gentiles—who have been kept out of clubs by people who are not worthy to button up their shoes, and who have no standing save in clubs.

"It is aggravating, I agree, but a man in what he is by reason of his respect for himself, and if he knows that some one who affects to snub him and look down upon him who is not worthy—if he knows that that person is not his equal and he cultivates any of the philosophy that he ought to call to his aid—he will have the advantage over his small-brained and narrow-minded critic always."

Three officials resigned. Following the president's speech, three members of the board of governors of the club—all three officials of the government—tendered their resignations. They insisted that their resignations be accepted, and they were. The members who quit are warm personal friends of the president. They are Mr. Brig. Gen. Clarence Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs; Capt. Temple Potts of the navy; and Lieut. Col. Charles L. McCawley of the Marine corps. The latter was an aide to former President Roosevelt.

CANADA MAKES PAPER CHEAPER.

Tariff Board Gives Figures Concerning News Print Industry.

Washington, May 18.—President Taft sent to the senate the tariff board's full report of its investigation of the pulp and news print paper industry in the United States and Canada.

Summarized briefly, the report says that a ton of news print paper is made in Canada for $5.35 less than it is made in the United States. The average Canadian cost is given at $27.53, and the average cost in the United States at $32.88. The duty upon a ton of news print paper under the present tariff is $3.75.

MAN WHO KILLED IS FREED.

Jury Acquits Slayer of Friend Who Insulted His Wife.

Chicago, May 18.—A jury in Judge Field's court condemned one of the most atrocious killings in Chicago's history by acquitting the defendant under the "unwritten law."

The case was that of Achilles Pentarakis, who on March 25 killed George Barbareos. Barbareos had been Pentarakis' intimate friend and was taken into his family as a boarder. Taking advantage of the husband's absence the man made love to Pentarakis' wife. She repulsed him and told her husband.

On the witness stand Pentarakis told how he had waited his chance and struck Barbareos down with a hatchet while he was washing.

He then related how he and his wife had cut the body to pieces, burned part of it, and packed the rest in a trunk, and how in the midst of their sanguinary work they had become terrified, dropped everything, and fled to Kansas City, where, goaded intolerably by their consciences, they had given themselves up to the police and made a full confession.

New Variety of Burglar.
Flabush awoke the other morning to find, to his surprise, that there is one type of burglar which has never been branded and labeled. Heretofore it was supposed that a specimen of every form of burglar was on file at headquarters, but no record was found of the burglar who skins the silverware and cash and confines himself to cold cream, talcum powder and millitary brushes.—New York Herald.

AN OLD REMEDY

Beef, Iron and Wine is one of the good old remedies that has outlived a score of patent tonics, reasonable in price, a satisfactory tonic, appetizer and mild stimulant. There is nothing better for that tired, worried, listless feeling or run-down condition of the system after illness of any kind. It tones the whole system, stimulates digestion, gives you appetite, is a good iron tonic for weak, pale children or old people, far more effective than malt extracts or so-called wine of cod liver oil that depend upon their stimulants alone. Beef, Iron and Wine tones and sustains, it assists nature to recuperate, it's a food to the sick and nursing mothers.

Mr. Pfeunig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, prepares our Beef, Iron and Wine. It's always fresh, made from the very best extract of beef, wholesome, properly aged sherry wine and soluble iron.
We don't sell ready-made, hand-made, factory-manufactured Beef, Iron and Wine. We believe and know that medicine should be compounded only by the experienced and scientific trained.

Try a bottle of our Beef, Iron and Wine as made by Mr. Pfeunig, for a full and true test of its wholesome taste and invigorating effect. You will be more than satisfied. Get it at the Indian Drug Co., Milwaukee and River Sts. The drug store that makes a specialty of drugs.

Milton Daggage Man Had Narrow Escape When Revolver in White-water Man's Valise Exploded.

There are many people who travel with their baggage and it is doubtful whether anyone ever had the unique experience of the certain Whitewater man who started out yesterday for Kansas City. It was a serious matter indeed for the episode of his valise might have cost the baggage man at Milton his life, but as it is that persons may relate at least one hair-breadth escape.

It seems it happened this way. The aforementioned Whitewater gentleman, desirous of neglecting no detail in the packing of his valise for his journey believed the matter of protection an important one and accordingly packed in his baggage a loaded revolver and a package of shells. This man soon unvarnished as he had to travel through a quiet country, but he evidently realized this for he checked the valise, undoubtedly and rightly thinking he would have no use for weapons before he arrived in the state where it is necessary to "show up."

It happened that the gentleman had to change cars at Milton and of course the valise with its dangerous load also had to be transferred. At this point we are concerned only with the valise. It may be that the train baggage man did not exercise due care in the handling of this article, but at any rate he tossed it from the car to the platform. The shock of landing was sufficient to explode the shell in the revolver and the bullet whizzed through the air and grazed the back of the collar of the Milton baggage man, Elton Jeffries, who was standing near, tearing part of it away and blistering his neck.

The Whitewater man went on his way to Janesville, unconscious of what his loaded grip had done, but upon arriving here and in a search for his baggage became aware of the havoc which had been wrought. He stated to the local employees of the road that he was not equal to the ordeal of returning to Whitewater, where he would be confronted by every one with this accident. However, he was persuaded to return to Milton this morning, where he attempted to ignore himself with the rumpled baggage man before he continued on his journey to Kansas City.

DR. BEATON WRITES
CLEVER ARTICLES

Contributions to Sportsman's Magazine by Local Pastor May Be Had at the Public Library.

If you are a fisherman and enjoy fishing you will be interested in a series of articles written by Rev. David Beaton, who has written some very interesting accounts called "Six Weeks' Fishing in Yellowstone." These are appearing in the sportsman's magazine of America, "The American Field." The first article was printed in the May 6, 1911, number. The account is splendidly illustrated with views, taken by the writer, of some of the beautiful spots of the park. The papers may be found at the public library and may be had by inquiring at the desk for them.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

An Old Beam: While at work tearing down the old front of the F. F. Peterson store on North Main street to put in a modern front a huge oak beam, which had been in position for over sixty years, was found in a perfect state of preservation. The beam, which was placed directly across the front and formed the support for the upper floor, was ten by ten inches in size. Thicked to it was a smaller beam.

TEAMSTERS WARNED
BY CHIEF APPLEBY

Must Be More Careful in Hauling Gravel Over Streets and Allowing Stones and Sand to Fall on Highways.

Teamsters in the city whose teams are used for hauling gravel about the streets, were this morning warned by Chief of Police George Appleby to be more careful in loading their wagons so that the gravel would not fall on the streets. Complaint has been made that the teamsters are careless and that the sand and stones fall from the wagons onto the pavements, ruining the highways in many cases. Several sand pits about the city where the gravel is being hauled from were visited by the chief this morning and the men warned that the practice would not be tolerated further. One teamster, who had overloaded his wagon, was made to cut down the load so the gravel would not drop off. In case the warning is not heeded the chief proposes to prosecute those who do not live up to the laws.

Dr. Beaton intends to bring out in an address yesterday afternoon before the convention of the Women's clubs of the state of Iowa, convened at Sioux City. The Iowa clubs have a remarkable organization and are known throughout the west for their high standards and the work which their members accomplish. At the meeting yesterday there were some delegates from all the leading cities of the state. Dr. Beaton's address was on the subject of "Little Masterpieces of English Literature." Dr. Beaton intends to bring out in his Sunday morning sermon the work which is being done by the women of the country as organized by their club. The theme "Woman's Work and Influence in the Present Day" was suggested by the gathering at Sioux City.

FILED DEED FOR WEST APPROACH

Papers for Transfer of Property on South River Street From Water Company to City Filed Today.

Final steps with regard to the acquisition of the property on the west bank of the river by the city for use as the west approach to the Racine street bridge, were taken this morning when the deed, signed by the Janesville Water company, was filed in the office of City Clerk R. M. Cummings. The deed is for lot three, block 9 of the Railroad addition to the City of Janesville on South River street. This ends the controversy between the city and the water company over the purchase of the lot.

At the same time a quit claim deed from C. R. and C. W. Jackson for lots A and B in Jackson's addition was filed, the lots to be used for highway purposes. Further than this, the full agreement reached between the city council and the Jacksons was carried out in the filing of the petition for dismissal of the case in district court in which C. R. and C. W. Jackson are the plaintiffs and the city the defendant, in which it was claimed that a special assessment overvalued the property contained in lots 1, 12, 13 and 14 of block 7, Jackson and Smith's addition on Sinclair street. This assessment was dropped by the city.

DIVORCE GRANTED IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

Judge Grimm Here This Morning and Disposes of One Divorce and Other Minor Matters.

Margaret Cannon was granted a divorce by Judge Grimm in the circuit court this morning from her husband, Daniel Cannon, on the grounds of cruelty and non-support. The plaintiff was given the custody of the children and $1800 to be paid at the end of one year with interest at five per cent.

In the matter of the action of Hugh P. Stowart against R. E. Lidgwood the defendant asked that the judgment of $2240.60 be set aside but this motion was denied by the court. The case of C. S. Jackson against the city of Janesville was dismissed. This was an action for damages arising out of the paying of Sinclair street from Milwaukee to South Third street and was in the form of an appeal from assessment.

William Godfrey was granted a judgment to quiet title in an action brought for that purpose against Silas Wood. The real of the time was taken up with the discharging of several mortgages. The judge left for his home in Jefferson this noon and will not return for several days.

MIGHT EXTEND THE CAR TRACKS TO THE
GOLF CLUB GROUNDS

General Manager W. C. Sparks of the Rockford Interurban Visits Local Golf Club.

There is a possibility that the car lines of the Janesville Traction company may be extended to the Sinclair Golf Club. This is only hinted at just now but the officials of the golf club are having strong hopes on this being a possibility after the visit of general manager W. C. Sparks of the Rockford Interurban company to the golf grounds yesterday.

Mr. Sparks was taken to the golf grounds, shown the course and saw some mighty good golf played by some of the members who were on the links. He was delighted with the grounds and pronounced the links the best he had ever seen.

Mr. Sparks was accompanied by the engineer of the company and both gentlemen asked many questions relative to the situation here, the number of members of the club and the general patronage that might result from an extension of the line.

No proposition was made by the officials of the golf club nor any promise as to a possibility that the line may be extended so as to accommodate the hundreds of persons who enjoy the grounds during the summer and be brought around so as to reach the Oak Hill cemetery more expeditiously for the accommodations of the thousands who visit that spot each Sunday.

The extension of the car line to the Sinclair golf grounds has been a hot scheme of the glimmer of hope. The line if run only during the golf season, which extends from early spring until the snow comes, would prove a valuable paying branch of the city line and would accommodate many who are now barred the club privileges except on special occasions, owing to lack of ability to reach the grounds easily.

President J. P. Baker was authority for the statement this afternoon that to overcome this last difficulty the executive committee of the club were seriously considering the purchase of an auto bus to make regular trips from downtown to the grounds at certain hours in the day. This would meet with general approval and would bring about an increased membership.

President Baker also wished to have it announced that the professional engaged by the club was in Janesville Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of each week and those wishing to make appointments with him could do so by leaving their names with him.

Clinton, May 18.—Miss Francis Woodard came over from Allen Grove yesterday. She and her mother arrived from Texas several weeks ago going direct to Allen Grove. They expect to occupy their home here in a few days.

Mrs. J. M. Hamilton arrived home from Florida yesterday accompanied by her grandson, Charles Warner. Dwight Hamilton of Peconic, went to Florida to accompany his mother back.

Mrs. L. L. Cory had a narrow escape from a serious injury Monday when she tripped and fell headlong down the outside cellar stairs, her right arm and hand was painfully bruised and skinned, but very fortunately no bones were broken.

Miss Dorothy Lloyd, teacher of the kindergarten department of our schools, was taken with the measles yesterday morning and was unable to assume her duties. As there is no substitute for that room it was necessary to close the room for the balance of the week.

Jay Green and Burdette Hollenbeck attended a blooded stock sale at Algonguin, Ill., Monday, and Burdette, accompanied by his brother, Morris Hollenbeck, attended another sale at the same place yesterday.

Miss Helen Holmer has accepted a position in the high school of St. Croix, Wis. Miss Holmer has taught four years at Medford and thought she would like a change, although the Medford board of education agreed to raise her salary.

MYSTERIOUS LOSS OF A BOX OF CLOTHING

Railway Detectives Search Through City for Missing Package Without Finding Any Trace.

Is there a box of clothing for spring wear in the city of Janesville, perhaps concealed in some collar or building, by mistake or otherwise, valued at $500?

This is the question that is bothering Agent Hemmens of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, and three detectives that have been going over the city with a fine-tooth comb for the past few weeks, searching for the missing packages.

The box was consigned to R. M. Postwick & Sons. According to the way bills of the Northwestern road it was dumped off the train in this city, but from that moment all trace of it has been lost.

There is no record that anyone in the city received it. No drayman signed for it to carry it to the Postwick store. The big box, which is valued at $500, is simply missing.

Agent Hemmens pursued an inquiry for several days, by himself, then three of the railroad's experts came to the city and made a complete survey of the majority of the store basements in the hopes of finding the missing box had been delivered by mistake. They also searched all places where thieves might have secreted it, in vain.

The box is missing. The only tangible theory is that it was not put off the train at Janesville, but carried to some other city. Such things have happened before. However, search is still being made and possibly the missing package may be brought to light.

Edward Wray of Chicago is visiting in the city for a few days at the home of his mother, Mrs. J. G. Wray.

Never Get There. The people who would have done so-and-so, if they had been there, never get there.

Justice White's Spotlight.

Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme court uses a little lighting arrangement when he's handing down decisions that reminds one of the spotlight on the little girl in the middle of the front row in a musical comedy. The Supreme court room is never brilliantly lighted, but all of the other justices read their decisions just from the light of the room—that is, they don't use desk lights, or if they do, the lights don't show. Chief Justice White, sitting in the middle of the row of solemnly garbed jurists, usually closes his eyes till it comes time for him to hand down a decision. Then he perks up, flicks on the little light in front of him, and it sits at such an angle that it illumines his face for all the world like the headliner in a vaudeville act.

ENGINE OF WRECKED TRAIN IN WHICH UTICA TEACHERS WERE KILLED.

SCENE OF THE FATAL UTICA WRECK.

Utica, N. Y.—The total list of fatalities in the recent train wreck in which many Utica school teachers were killed will probably never be known. The eleven charred bodies taken from the coaches it is thought represent only a part of the full list. Picture taken at the fatal crash shows the overturned locomotive and the wreck of the coaches after the fire had wrought its havoc.

$20,000,000 HELL GATE BRIDGE.—PROPOSED HELL GATE BRIDGE OVER EAST RIVER.

New York, N. Y.—Excavations for the foundations of the $20,000,000 bridge and viaduct of the New York connecting railroad are now being made and the work of building the three miles of railroad and the three miles of viaduct on lands that are to connect the Port Morris yard of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad with the Long Island and Pennsylvania systems in the Sunnyside yards, will begin as soon as the foundations are finished.

The structure begins in the yard of the New Haven road, near One Hundred and Forty-second street, the Bronx, and proceeds by viaduct to the shores of the Bronx Kill. The Kill is crossed by a bridge of the lift type 300 feet long, to a viaduct that runs southward along the eastern shore of Randall's Island to Little Hell Gate. This viaduct is about 2,800 feet long. A second bridge, 1,000 feet long, crosses to Ward's Island. A viaduct traverses Ward's Island 2,600 feet to the shore of Hell Gate. Hell Gate itself is spanned by a bridge 1,000 feet long. When the Long Island shore is reached the four tracks which have crossed from the New Haven road's yards on a viaduct. Here connection may be made to the Pennsylvania station in Seventh avenue, Manhattan, or with the lines running out into Long Island.

An passenger train will go direct to the entrance of the Pennsylvania tunnel in the Sunnyside yards, it will be possible to transport passengers without change of cars from Quebec to Florida. Two of the trains will carry freight. On them cars will be taken from there on large barges carrying 30 cars each to the new freight yards built by the Pennsylvania railroad at Greenville, N. J.

The towers of the Hell Gate bridge will be 200 feet high and the span will be 140 feet above high water mark. The enormous arches will have a length of 3,000 feet. The four railroad tracks will be imbedded in stone ballast to prevent oscillation and rattle. The New York Connecting railroad is a corporation distinct from the New Haven and the Pennsylvania, but each road owns half of the stock. The right of way has been acquired and the franchise obtained. The plans were prepared by Gustav Lindenthal, former bridge commissioner, with the assistance of Palmer & Hornbelle as consulting architects. Mr. Lindenthal estimates that the bridge will be completed in four years.

Librarians Meet at Pasadena.

Pasadena, Cal., May 18.—A convention of the widest interest is the annual meeting of the American Library Association which formally opened its sessions here today. The association has more than 2,000 members, including librarians of public, college, medical, law, state and other libraries; assistant librarians, library trustees, publishers, booksellers and friends of libraries. The president is James I. Wyer, director of the New York State library at Albany.

The meetings of the association are open and a most interesting and instructive program has been prepared for the Pasadena meeting. The sessions will last four days. In addition to papers and discussions by noted library experts the program provides for addresses by Governor Johnson of California, President Benjamin D. Wheeler of the University of California, Luther Burbank, the celebrated horticultural expert; John Muir, the noted forester and naturalist, and Lincoln Steffens, the magazine writer.

Makers of Cotton Goods.

Richmond, Va., May 18.—Manufacturers of cotton goods in all parts of the country, comprising the membership of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association gathered here today to discuss the present depression in market conditions and other matters of great importance to the cotton manufacturing industry. The occasion is the fifteenth annual meeting of the association.

President D. V. Cooper of Charlotte called the convention to order at the Hotel Jefferson this morning and delivered his annual address. Mayor D. C. Richardson welcomed the visitors. Committee reports were presented and there were also addresses on the scientific management of cotton mills and plans to increase the American cotton goods trade in China. A leading feature of the afternoon session was an address by Arthur R.

Marsh, president of the New York Cotton Exchange.

Lee-Harris Wedding. Philadelphia, Pa., May 18.—Many persons of prominence in the social life of New York, Baltimore, Washington and Philadelphia were present at the wedding today of Miss Mary Kuhn Harris, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hartman Kuhn of this city, and Joseph Jenkins Lee, a member of the well known Lee family of Virginia and Maryland. The wedding took place at the home in Devon of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Boone. The bridegroom was one of Roosevelt's Rough Riders and for a time was in the United States diplomatic service.

Historical Ring to be Sold.

London, May 18.—Some spirited bidding is expected at Christie's tomorrow when the celebrated Queen Elizabeth ring is to be sold at auction. The ring has been in possession of either the Doreux or Carter-Thynne families for three hundred years. The ring is believed to be the identical one given by Queen Elizabeth as a pledge of pardon to her favorite, the Earl of Essex. Delay on the part of the Countess of Nottingham in returning the ring resulted in the Earl's execution and, so it is said, hastened the death of the grief-stricken Queen.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

THE Butterfly Girl, who was presiding at the chaffing dish at our Sunday night supper, started quickly when someone spoke her name unexpectedly, and upset the salt.

"Oh, dear," wailed Molly, "look what you've done, and I don't want to quarrel with you a bit, because I like you, and anyway, I hate to quarrel. It makes me feel queer in the pit of my stomach. Here, take some of this quick and throw it over your shoulder."

The Butterfly Girl obeyed, laughing, but the author man's wife broke in tartly: "Really, Molly, I should think you'd be too sensible for such a silly superstition. Positively, I cannot understand it."

"There, my dear," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat, turning to the author man's wife with suspiciously unfriendly friendliness, "there, that reminds me. You remember the day you stopped at my house on your way to town and you told me you had put your petticoat on wrongside out and you simply couldn't bear to change it for fear of ill luck, and yet you were afraid the tailor would see it. Do you think he noticed it?"

The author man's wife turned a dull red. "No, he didn't," she snapped.

"Come to think of it," admitted the Butterfly Girl, kindly curtailing the laugh by her admission. "Come to think of it, I don't think I should have said that. I don't mind spilling salt or changing things that I put on wrongside out, but I must say, I'm heartbroken if I see the now moon over my left shoulder."

"Peek," said the author man. "There's nothing in that. Why just last month I saw the now moon over my left shoulder, through glass and with not a cent in my pocket, and I had three manuscripts accepted within the next week. No, take it from me, that moon business is all nonsense. But I'll tell you something that isn't. I never yet had a story that I began on Friday accepted. You can peek-peek all you want, but that's not superstition; that's real experience."

The wants-to-be-cynic turned attentively to the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "Surely," he pleaded, "surely, you, the priestess of common sense, will assure me that you, at least, are free from this maudlin, medieval muddle of superstition." (The wants-to-be-cynic is crazy about alliteration and looked proudly about for someone to pat him on the back after this effort.)

"Well, I don't mind tipping over salt, and I wouldn't keep anything on wrongside out if I were paid for it, and the only thing I notice about the now moon is whether it's a wet or a dry one, and as for Friday, I've had some of the best luck I ever had on that day, but I must say that I do not like to sit down with thirteen at a table. I really think I have some justification in that, for I've known two cases where the thirteenth person died within a year."

"Old people?" inquired the cynic.

"Well along in life," admitted the lady.

"And yet you believe that nonsense. Lady, I'm disappointed in you."

"Does this actually mean that I'm the only person in this crowd who is absolutely free from superstition?"

"No, it doesn't," said the author man dryly. "Not by a good deal. That is, unless you've changed your mind about some things since I barked with you about a month ago, and you took the head right off of your scrubwoman for breaking your shaving mirror. You were most particular to say that the thing didn't cost much. . . . I don't want the value you imputed at all, but you didn't like the idea of being saddled with bad luck for seven years."

The wants-to-be-cynic turned three shades redder than the author man's wife had.

"Dear me," sighed Molly, when the meeting had come back to comparative order. "We must be remarkably foolish people—not one of us without a superstition."

"Not a bit remarkable, Molly," said the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat. "I don't believe you'll find one person in five hundred who hasn't at least one pot superstition. Maybe, some people won't like to acknowledge it, any better than some of us, but if you could live a year with them you'd be sure to find it."

Which—as you may have suspected—is my own opinion and my thesis.

Try it some time in a company of real sensible people, and if you can get them to be honest, I don't believe you'll find one, though he laughs to scorn all other superstitions, has some pot one of his own tucked away.

YOUR VACATION BAGGAGE.
Soon, you are to start on your vacation. Perhaps you will be fortunate enough to go to Europe, or you may be one of those Americans who believe in seeing their own country first. Or you may be of that other type who believe that a vacation is intended as a period of rest. So you will take yourself to the seashore, to the mountains, or "just into the country."

If you belong to the great army of workers, you will show your wisdom by avoiding the places where you will be compelled to dress according to the dictates of society. If you are really sensible you will try to find some place where you can spend your period of rest away from crowds. A week of that sort of vacation will be worth more to you than a month spent in a place where there is a crowd.

The third man or woman who goes away for relaxation and to recuperate from the drain made upon them by the demands of their work, never should go where there is a crowd. Rather should they seek seclusion and the companionship of a few persons of congenial tastes.

Then, too, the average person going on a vacation is likely to overburden themselves with baggage. Particularly is this true of the novice on a trip to Europe. The rule should be, "as little baggage as possible, made up only of indispensable things."

The woman going to Europe does not need a lot of gowns, dresses and turbans. What she needs is enough to keep her neat and sweet and attractive, and what is more to the point, comfortable. Anything in excess of that is not only burdensome, but foolish.

The woman going to Europe as a tourist—that is, on a sight-seeing tour—needs but two gowns; one for street and train wear and the latter for dinner. And yet, even the latter can be dispensed with, if one takes with her a few blouses made in fancy designs. These, with a good skirt of right cut, are sufficient for dinner wear on all ordinary occasions. The same sort of judgment can well be used in regard to other wearing apparel.

The woman who follows some such course will be rewarded by having the worry about baggage practically taken off her hands. She will get a great deal more comfort out of her trip and certainly have far less to worry her.

A vacation is valuable only as it is made to benefit the individual. If it takes more in the matter of physical exertion than it allows, or if it overtaxes one in any way, it not only fails of its purpose, but works more harm than it can possibly do good. Under such circumstances one better stay at home and spend the period allotted for vacation in the hammock or lying around the house.

The idea of vacation is one of recuperation. And this is the idea that is just absorbed by the summer vacationist. There are people, of course, whose habits permit them to fill from place to place, like butterflies in quest of something new and attractive. But those are not people who live. But those are not people who live. But those are not people who live.

They are compelled for the greater portion of the year to the serious task of earning their bread and butter. They are the people of means and ample leisure. To attempt to ape them for even a few weeks is as futile as it is silly.

May 18.—When it comes to showing a historical moving picture that is full of thrills, the operator reaches for the film marked "Little Napoleon." Born of poor but honest Corsican parents, Napoleon was lieutenant of artillery at 16, at the age of 26 commander-in-chief of the army of Italy, and on May 18, 1801, when only 35 years of age he assumed the title of Emperor. Hatred of England, Jacobin excesses and schemes of the royalists had made the people of France yearn for the old time hereditary rule, and the Tribunate with the sole exception of Carnot voted for an empire, with Napoleon at the helm. In December 1801, he was anointed Emperor by the Senate and was in such a hurry to coronate the people's hand and put it on his own head like a man buying a new Derby. Four months later he tried on another crown at Milan, and liked it so well he proclaimed himself king of Italy. These events occurred only 11 years after the Reign of Terror, a festival that was supposed to show to the world that the French weren't strong on the royalty stuff, but everybody has a perfect right to change their mind if they wish.

NEW CONTEST STARTS FOR WOMEN READERS

Conditions and List of Prizes Will Be Found Below.—Of Interest To All Women.

"How to plan a week's work for a family of five, where the mother does the housework."

This is the subject of the coming contest for the readers of the Woman's Page of the Gazette. The idea was suggested to the Feature Editor by one of the readers, who thought it would be an excellent subject for consideration.

The main idea of the Feature Editor is to secure hints on all sorts of subjects that will be helpful for women. This is a woman's department and the women readers should feel free to ask for information on any subject that they desire and obtain an answer if possible.

"How to plan a week's work for a family of five, where the mother does the housework."

There is an opportunity for the women readers to exercise their ingenuity and put their thoughts onto paper, and at the same time try for some of the many prizes offered. The Feature Editor does not limit the writers to any definite length of the articles, but suggests they be not too long. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and in a plain hand, so they can be easily read.

In making the plans for the week's work, go into details as to how everything is handled. The number of the family is given as five as this is the average family, and the age of the members is not stipulated. Make your articles interesting and have them in the Feature Editor's hands by the third of June.

The following is the list of prizes offered:

First prize—Ladies gold filled watch with pendant.

Second prize—Dance Courtesy Cook-book.

Third prize—Set of seven kitchen knives.

Fourth prize—$1.50 in money.

Fifth prize—$1.00 in money.

The Kitchen Cabinet

SHE who gives promptly gives twice as much.

The Tea and Coffee Pots.

Many otherwise exemplary housekeepers are most careless in regard to the care given the tea and coffee pots. Much of our poor tea and coffee might be traced to an unclean pot.

The tea and coffee pots should be as carefully washed and cared for as any of the table dishes. As both tea and coffee have so strong an odor, it is necessary in order to have the pots sweet to give them a good sunning in the air.

When the pots are not in frequent use they are apt to grow musty. Try keeping a loaf of sugar in the pot to absorb the impurities.

When the tea is brewed in the kitchen, a stone or crockery teapot is the best to use.

Coffee pots should never be allowed to stand around with the grounds in them. They should be thrown out and the pot boiled out with cold water.

There are many cooks who keep the coffee over and warm it up, with fresh water, for the next meal. This should never be permitted, as there is a little principle developed which is most injurious.

If the coffee is put into cheese cloth bags the grounds are then easily removed and the coffee will always be clearer and better.

Household Hints.

Cream cheese mixed with cherries or cranberries makes a nice sandwich filling.

In cooking broilers all the juice is saved and much of the flavor otherwise lost is retained by brushing the fowl well with olive oil before broiling.

Rinse lace in skimmed milk, never in boiling water. The milk adds a little stiffness and the color is soft and creamy.

Brown poached eggs on thin rounds of bread sautéed in a little butter.

DAINTY DRESS FOR THE HOME

Of Thistle Mauve Crepe With Trim-mings That Give It Unique Distinction.

A dainty dress with one-sided effect is illustrated here; it is made up in thistle mauve crepe meter, and has a panel of figured silk let in down the right side of front, getting gradually wider as it reaches the hem; a narrow trimming edges the panel.

The bodice has one side of the crepe, the other of the silk, which is carried in a slanting direction to opposite side and edged with trimming; from right to left below arm until a little darker shade is draped. A waistband of ribbon tied in a bow at sides finishes the waist.

Embroideries for Spring Gowns.

There is a great deal of openwork embroidery used on the new thin frocks, and one sees the old favorites, Irish, cluny and valenciennes, well represented; but there is a noticeable mingling of fine and heavy lace and embroidery, beautiful motifs of Venetian worked in among valenciennes and embroidered net or linen, etc.

HOME DRESSES

THE first might be made in any fine woolen material, and has the skirt prettily made with a panel down front and trimmed with a deep band of embroidery taken round skirt from each side of panel; the fullness at the upper edge is gathered in at waist. A collar of the embroidery trims the bodice at edge of yoke, points are cut at the lower part, these are crossed over tucked union, which is also used for yoke, bands of embroidery edge the sleeves; a satin waistband is worn.

Materials required: 4 1/2 yards 46 inches wide, 3 yards embroidery, 1/4 yard tucked union.

For a simple dress such as is shown in the second illustration, fine serge would be exceedingly nice. The narrow skirt is trimmed at foot by a band of striped material cut on the cross, this is also used for revers and cuffs on the cross-over bodice, which large circle of lace Tuscan which is posed over hrim and crown. Ribbon, wide and soft, is laced through the band and tied in a two-looped bow with hanging ends at the back. It is a model which may be worn by children from four to fourteen years old.

A pretty model for an older girl is shown in Fig. 2. The wire frame in this is covered first with chiffon, which is shirred for the facing. The hat is covered with row after row of side plaited lace on top of the crown, and about the brim. At the sides the plaited lace is omitted, and little stalks of lily-of-the-valley are set plainly over the chiffon.

A wash of wide soft ribbon finished with an immense bow at the back makes a complete finish for the hat, but a bunch of cowslips or other small flowers may be added at the front, as shown in the picture.

GOLDEN WEDDING OF EVANSVILLE COUPLE

DR. AND MRS. CHARLES M. SMITH,
DR., CELEBRATED ANNIVER-SARY TUESDAY.

ARE EARLY SETTLERS

Had Lived in and Near Evansville For Nearly Sixty Years Past—Among Best Known and Most Highly Respected Residents.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Evansville, May 17.—One of the most delightful functions which have been given in Evansville for some time
was the celebration held yesterday
in honor of the golden wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Charles M.
Smith, 8c.

The pretty home on Madison street was attractively decorated throughout with a wealth of cut flowers, principally roses.

The dining room was especially pretty. Here the decorations consisted of yellow ropes entwined with amylax and hung with white wedding bells, while a pretty arrangement of roses and tulips with ferns were further used to carry out the color note of yellow and white. Yellow roses were also used for center pieces on the tables.

The gathering was a most notable
one for it brought together an unusually large number of the older residents and many of the younger ones.
They received from two to five in the afternoon and from seven thirty evening, and during these hours about twenty hundred and fifty friends were enjoyably entertained.

The music and Williams orchestra
of Evansville, with Miss Gordon Mc-Ginley, rendered a fine musical program throughout the afternoon and evening, and a quartet of local singers composed of Mrs. John Schellie, Mrs. Charles Bullard, Rev. Chas.
Coon and L. Frank sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold." Rev. Coon gave as a solo, "Oh, Promise Me," followed by "John Anderson, My Jo."

Dr. Smith and Miss Julia E. Savin took the vows which made them husband and wife at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. John Savin. Her father was a prominent Baptist minister in pioneer days and lived near Evansville. The couple have two children, Dr. Charles M. Jr., of this city and Mrs. Flora D. Gordon of Leoti, Wis.

Dr. Smith, Sr., was born in Cattanaug County, New York, June 26, 1824, and resided with his parents in his native state until he was in his twentieth year. He then started out on his own and came to Wisconsin.
For a short time he was engaged as a teacher. He then spent three years in study at Albion Academy at Albion, Wis., and in 1856 came to Janesville, where he taught school for a year. He then commenced the study of medicine with the late Dr. J. M.
Evans and graduated at Rush Medical college in 1859. After graduating he practiced one year at Elm Point, Ill.,
and then returned to Wisconsin, and located at Portville, where he remained until 1863. He was then commissioned assistant surgeon of the 13th Wisconsin Infantry and continued in the service until 1864, when he was discharged for disability and returned home.

In 1863 he removed to Evansville, where for many years he enjoyed an extensive practice. In 1867 he became a member of the state Medical society of Wisconsin, and on the organization of the Southern Wisconsin Medical Association in 1883 was elected its first president. The doctor has always taken a keen interest in educational matters and for fourteen years served as clerk of the school board. He is also prominent in social organizations,
being a well known member of the A.
F. and A. M. He was one of the charter members of the Footville lodge and was its first worshipful master. He is now a member of Union Lodge No. 32
of Evansville, and was its master from 1865 to 1871 inclusive. He is a member of Evansville chapter I. A.
M., No. 35 and has filled all its offices.
He also belongs to Janesville Commandery No. 2, and an honorary member of the Oriental Order of the Palm and Shell. He is a member of Evansville Lodge No. 66, Knights of Pythias, and the Evansville Elks lodge.

There are few men now living who can boast of a larger acquaintance throughout the state than Dr. Smith, and no resident of Rock County is held in higher regard.

Of the guests who were present at the wedding half a century ago, but three were in attendance at the golden anniversary. They were Mrs. Smith's two sisters, Mrs. Jane Montgomery and Mrs. Anna Baldwin and her husband, Gustav from out of town were Dr. and Mrs. Broughton of Rockford, Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Gordon and daughter, Doris,
of Leoti; Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Hammond
of Rockford; Mrs. Helen Winston, Mrs.
Julia Bailey and Mrs. Ira Fisher of Janesville; and Mrs. Martha Parker of Madison.

Will St. Paul Road
BUY OLD N. W. DEPOT?

Rumor That Negotiations Are Under Way With This in View.

It is believed in railroad circles in Chicago that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul will purchase or lease the old Wells Street Station, Chicago, of the Chicago & Northwestern, which are abandoned at the opening of the new Northwestern Station. It is known for some time that the St. Paul had had negotiations under way for the purchasing of the station and all of its connecting properties owned by the Northwestern. The St. Paul for some time has wished to get away from the Union Station, Adams, Madison and Canal streets, owing to its present crowded condition. When asked in regard to the prospective purchase or leasing St. Paul officials were silent and would neither affirm or deny it. This was equally true with the Northwestern. The Wells Street Station would be convenient for the St. Paul and this gives color to the rumor.
If the St. Paul should purchase the properties it would probably rebuild or make very large improvements on the present building. The Northwestern will have no use for the

LATEST NEWS GIVEN TO GAZETTE READERS

Within Past Week Readers of This Paper Have Had Important National News Published in Extras.

Another example of the efficiency of the Gazette's unexcelled news service, furnished by the Associated Press, has been demonstrated by the publication of important items of national interest in extras after the mail edition had been run off and a portion of the regular city edition. On Monday (the important decision of the United States supreme court, relative to the Standard Oil case, was announced in the evening issue of that date, thus giving the readers of the paper an opportunity to learn the news the day it happened and not have to wait until the morning Chicago papers arrived.)

Again, last evening, the dispatch
announcing the fact that President Diaz of Mexico had consented to resign to save further bloodshed in his country, was given to the public at their supper tables and those interested in the Mexican trouble again learned the news hours in advance of any other means. The Gazette holds an exclusive Associated Press franchise for evening service for a territory with a radius of twenty miles of the city, thus insuring its readers the latest news daily—news that is carefully edited without favoritism or prejudice. The Associated Press is one of the greatest news-gathering organizations in the world and has its correspondents in every city and community.

Another source of news that the Gazette has is that furnished by the United Press association. This association furnishes its news, world and state, over the telephone, a special instrument being installed in the Gazette office to take down the reports
as fast as received from the headquarters for Wisconsin, located in Milwaukee. This service is taken by the telegraph editor of the Gazette, over the telephone, and written as fast as received, on the typewriter, making it ready to go into the printers' hands at once, thus saving any delay.

The United Press association has an exclusive news service, with special trained correspondents in the larger cities of the state. It also furnishes a world service, having associations with some of the largest of the European news distributing wires.

It is over the telephone wires of the United Press that the Gazette receives the baseball scores each day. The results of the three games in the three big leagues—the National, the American and the American association—are received over the telephone and distributed to the eight places of business where they are displayed as fast
as received.

The scores are also displayed in the windows of the Gazette each evening,
the general score sheets showing the wins, hits and errors and the smaller sheet the score by innings. That much interest is displayed in these scores is evidenced by the fact that automobile parties from Edgerton and the surrounding villages and cities, drive to the Gazette office to learn the results, almost nightly, rather than wait for the morning papers' reports of the games.

Evansville Woman
NEAR CENTURY MARK

Mrs. Narcissa Meekin Celebrated
Ninety-sixth Birthday—Is Oldest Person Living in Evansville.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Evansville, May 17.—Mrs. Narcissa Meekin quietly celebrated the ninety-sixth anniversary of her birth at her home on Park street yesterday. Mrs.
Meekin has the distinction of being the oldest person living in Evansville,
and received congratulations and best wishes from friends. About a year ago she suffered a fractured hip which
at the time was considered very serious, on account of her extreme age,
but she is now in excellent health,
and has an active and retentive mind.
She can recall, with accuracy, the events of her childhood, and can give many interesting reminiscences of pioneer days in Wisconsin. A quartet composed of Mr. and Mrs. John Gueh-ring and Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Forrest spent the evening at her home and sang many old familiar hymns, which was a source of pleasure to the aged lady.

Citizens Petition.

Some of those residing on what has been known as the alley in block two of the city of Evansville, appeared before the city council at a recent meeting and asked that the city provide them with a water main. The city refused to lay a main while the property was owned by private individuals, so the land was deeded to the city, and it is the intention to widen the alley from a two to a three foot street, and has been named Montgomery Court, after James Montgomery who, for many years, was a resident of that vicinity.

Personal.

W. H. H. Johnson and Miss Ethel
Frost were visitors in Janesville yesterday.

Miss Zella Moore is home from Milwaukee to spend the summer with her parents.

John Wall and daughter, Daisy,
were Janesville visitors yesterday.

Miss Elsie Pratt of Racine is spending the week here as the guest of Miss Paula Beale.

Mrs. Leola Denison is spending the day in Janesville.

On May 15, a son was born to Mr.
and Mrs. W. E. Woodward.

Mrs. Arthur Franklin was in Janesville on Tuesday.

PLEASING PROGRAM GIVEN LAST NIGHT

Entertainment Was Given in the Guild
Hall of Trinity Church, Students of School For Blind Assisting in Program.

In the guild hall of Trinity Episcopal church last evening an entertainment of tableaux and solos was given before the members of the church and friends of the congregation. The hall was decorated with streamers of red,
pink, and green, and the stage was especially fitted for the occasion. The opening number was a tableau presented by a company of children, who sang "I Love My Mother." Mrs. G. W.
Squire sang a delightful solo, responding to an encore. Popular sollections were played in a beautiful guitar duet by George Miller and Fred Palmer and William Miller and Miss Blanche Cornell gave several vocal and piano solos. Miss L. Mosher and G. E. Schumaker gave an entertaining dialogue, "The Train to Mu-ro." One of the features of the program was a vocal duet by the Misses Florence and Alice Gregory, "The Yama Yama" song. The young ladies were dressed in costume for their number.

Several students from the state school for the blind took part in the entertainment. Miss Josephine Treghnor and Fred Elliott rendered a violin duet, Miss Lillian Lohry a vocal solo, and the Misses Jessie Foster and Elsie Schumaker a piano duet.

"A Slight Misunderstanding" was the subject of a humorous dialogue in which the Misses Eva Graves and Gertrude Maho took part and the final number was a piano duet by Katharine Barringer and Helen Schabbe.
Ice cream and cake were served after the entertainment.

MANY CITIES WILL
BUY WATERWORKS

Rate Commissioner Predicts Ninety-
five Per Cent in State Will Soon be Owned by Municipalities.

That ninety-five per cent of the cities of Wisconsin will own their own waterworks within a short time,
was the statement of Commissioner Reicher of the Wisconsin State Railroad State Commission to City Attorney H. J. Maxwell of this city yesterday. Mr. Maxwell was in Madison yesterday to inquire regarding the progress of the case against the Janesville Water Company. The delay in the Janesville case, the commissioner stated, was due to the fact that the commission is required by statute to appraise all properties,
where the municipality makes an appraisal, within ninety days. This has delayed the procedure of the Janesville case, the commissioner being kept busy elsewhere. Commissioner Reicher stated, however, that the statute had been amended by the legislature to allow the commissioners a year in which to make an appraisal, decision in the Janesville case is expected soon.

Utter's Corners, May 17.—Jake Traver,

been a respected citizen of this place,
died Sunday morning at Elkhorn, of

He was never married and spent the

Rev. Samuel Lugg of Whitewater, and
the remains were laid to rest in the

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED ON EVE

Friends of Mrs. James Robinson
Gathered At Her Home Last
Evening.

Mrs. James Robinson of 515 S. Main street, was most pleasantly surprised
by fifteen of her friends last evening
at a farewell party on the eve of her
departure for an extended European trip. The ladies brought with them
delicious refreshments and left several
little tokens of the esteem in which
they held Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson leaves on Monday for New York
from where she sails on May 23 on the Cornia for England. She will spend some time in England and on
the continent before returning home.

Slaves of the Russian Passport.

A peasant leaves his home to seek
for work as a field laborer, wherever
he can find work to do, and, like every Russian, male and female, he takes
his passport with him, which is quite
as much a part of him as his soul is,
writes E. D. Lanin. It is always a half-yearly passport, which he must renew at the end of six months, sending it home in a registered letter to
an official at his native place, and including the legal fee and something
over for the trouble. The time of renewal draws near; the workman gets
a demand for a new passport. Through official neglect or other reason the passport fails to come in time. The honest workman who is earning his
bread in the sweat of his brow and
by the practice perhaps of exceptional sobriety is trying to earn a pit-
tance for his family, is arrested suddenly and sent home—that is, he is
sent into a forwarding prison, whence
he emerges to join a convict party, which
contains the cream of criminality, and
is ground down and made to suffer
half tortures before he gets home.
When he arrives he gets his passport
and is a free agent, once more a loyal
subject. Mr. Pitkin informs the government that when he visited the Markovsk prison in February, 1893,
all the prisoners there were confined
for passport irregularities only.

DEATH CLAIMED AN OLD SETTLER IN THE COUNTY

Jake Traver Who Had Lived At Ut-
ter's Corners For Fifty Years
Passed Away Sunday—Funeral
Tuesday.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Utter's Corners, May 17.—Jake Traver,
who for upwards of fifty years had
been a respected citizen of this place,
died Sunday morning at Elkhorn, of
heart failure, at the age of 77 years.
He was never married and spent the
greater portion of the past fifty years at the home of his sister, Mrs. Ezra Brown. The remains were brought here Tuesday and the funeral services were held in the church, conducted by Rev. Samuel Lugg of Whitewater, and
the remains were laid to rest in the family lot beside his mother in the Utter's Corners cemetery.

PLEASANTLY SURPRISED ON EVE
OF DEPARTURE FOR EUROPE

Friends of Mrs. James Robinson
Gathered At Her Home Last
Evening.

Mrs. James Robinson of 515 S. Main street, was most pleasantly surprised
by fifteen of her friends last evening
at a farewell party on the eve of her
departure for an extended European
delicious refreshments and left several
little tokens of the esteem in which
they held Mrs. Robinson. Mrs. Robinson leaves on Monday for New York
from where she sails on May 23 on
the Cornia for England. She will spend some time in England and on
the continent before returning home.

Slaves of the Russian Passport.

A peasant leaves his home to seek
for work as a field laborer, wherever
he can find work to do, and, like every Russian, male and female, he takes
his passport with him, which is quite
as much a part of him as his soul is,
writes E. D. Lanin. It is always a
half-yearly passport, which he must re-
new at the end of six months, sending it home in a registered letter to
an official at his native place, and including the legal fee and something
over for the trouble. The time of renewal draws near; the workman gets
a demand for a new passport. Through
official neglect or other reason the
passport fails to come in time. The
honest workman who is earning his
bread in the sweat of his brow and
by the practice perhaps of exceptional sobriety is trying to earn a pit-
tance for his family, is arrested suddenly and sent home—that is, he is
sent into a forwarding prison, whence
he emerges to join a convict party, which
contains the cream of criminality, and
is ground down and made to suffer
half tortures before he gets home.
When he arrives he gets his passport
and is a free agent, once more a loyal
subject. Mr. Pitkin informs the government that when he visited the Markovsk prison in February, 1893,
all the prisoners there were confined
for passport irregularities only.

A Message for His Walter.

An Englishman who was lunching
in a New York hotel the other day was greatly annoyed by the way his waiter seemed to neglect him. His evident perturbation attracted the attention of the head waiter, who busiedly up and asked if there was anything he could do for the visitor.

"By Jove, you," said the Englishman, "would you mind calling a boy
and telling him to page my waiter?"

A Prompt Guess.

"I heard something today which I would hesitate to repeat," said Mrs.
Wingfield.

"I suppose," replied her husband,
"that you have been to another problem play matinee."

TRAIN LOSES ITS WHISTLE

Odd Incident That Is Believed to Mark a Record at Least on This Particular Line.

It occurred one day recently, and the passengers on the Big Sandy train are smiling yet when they think of the oddest incident that has happened on that branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio in years. The train bound for Ashland lost its whistle while still many miles up the valley, and was forced to stop and back up almost the entire distance, looking for that whistle, which was eventually found miles away from where it was mislaid. The loss delayed the train five hours. It was due at Catlettsburg at five o'clock in the evening, but didn't reach that point until ten o'clock that night. Trains have been known to lose their switchmen, their cabooses and sometimes a whole cut of cars, but never before has a Big Sandy train been known to lose its whistle. Under the law, a train may not operate without a whistle, and it was this fact that caused the conductor of this train to run back over many miles of track to locate the lost object.—Pikesville Advocate.

PROTECTION FOR THE CARS

Wind Gauge Used on English Railroad to Prevent Accident While Crossing Over Viaduct.

A singular device for the protection of railroad train trains crossing a viaduct exposed to heavy winds has been employed in England. It consists of a wind gauge fixed at the west end of the Levens viaduct.

When the wind pressure reaches 32 pounds to the square foot an electrical contact is made automatically, and bells ring in the signal cabins on each side of the viaduct. Upon this all trains are detained until the force of the wind abates. The interruption is telegraphed along the line. In the month of February one year a velocity of 65 miles an hour was recorded. The danger of very high winds to trains on an exposed bridge or viaduct has been more than once tragically demonstrated both in England and in this country.

Railroading by Sails.

Many of the small towns along the coast of Chile are being connected by sail railways. These railways are the idea of an engineer engaged on coast improvement work. Finding the time spent by workmen in carrying materials from the town to the place of operations a costly item he decided to take advantage of the trade winds, which blow in that region with clock-like regularity, and accordingly, he had a number of fair-sized box cars built and provided each with a large sail. These cars not only accommodate the men going and coming from work, but proved amply sufficient to transport the material needed in the construction of the works. The average speed attained by these cars is from 30 to 40 miles an hour.

Tragedy Narrowly Averted.

What might have been a serious railroad accident was narrowly averted at Juneau, Alaska, recently. A goods train from Juneau was stationary at Bethunga railway station, and slightly in advance of her usual resting place, when the Sydney express to Melbourne, which does not stop at Bethunga, dashed past, striking the stationary engine of the goods train, cutting the buffer off and portion of the front of the engine woodwork was splintered to matchwood. The passengers naturally were greatly alarmed, and there was much rejoicing at the narrow escape from a dreadful death.

Kitten's Adventurous Ride.

Crawling unnoticed onto the pilot of the Pennsylvania flier a black and white kitten clung to its perilous position all the way from Indianapolis to Columbus, O., the other afternoon, and has been christened mascot at the Columbus Union station. When the train pulled into Columbus after its run from Indianapolis the kitten jumped from the pilot and ran to shelter in an empty box car near the station yard. It had been exposed to the rain and wind and was soaked and bedraggled after the ride of 188 miles without a stop.

Telephone on Trains.

It is reported that the Pennsylvania railroad is experimenting with the use of the telephone for communication between the locomotive cab and the caboose of long freight trains. This will do away with the necessity of signaling by means of lamps, hand signals and whistles. In foggy weather and at night such a means of communication would expedite the handling of freight.

A Weak Explanation.

"I thought you wrote me that you had a beard while you were in France?"

"I did, and it was a beauty. But the customs officials claimed that it was a foreign product, and I had to shave before they'd let me come ashore. They're getting awfully particular these days."

Modern Magic.

"Jiggs is the most resourceful man I have ever met."

"What does he do in a crisis?"

"He simply flashes a big roll of bills."

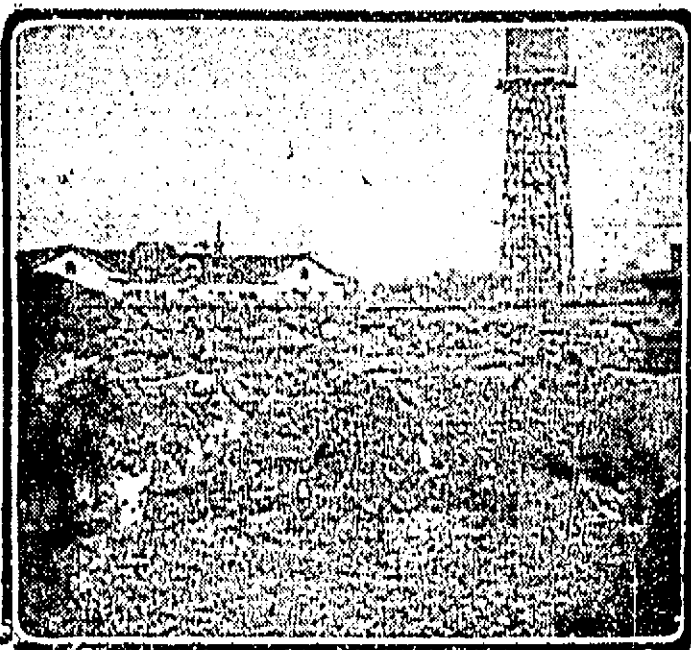

Japanese Railroads.

The Japanese railroads at the close of their last fiscal year had 6,025 miles of line, of which more than nine-tenths belong to the state.

Ought to Make It, All Right.

"He was a mercenary match, was it?"

"Yes, but she has money to burn."

AMERICAN LIVE STOCK FOR MANCHURIA.

Photograph showing three of the Shorthorn bulls. They are 2-year-olds and are of blue-blooded lineage, all being registered animals.

Portland, Ore.—Thoroughbred stock from the Pacific northwest will be used as the basis of an extensive live stock industry in Manchuria. A large consignment of cattle, sheep and hogs is to be shipped from Portland Union Stockyards to Mukden. The shipment consists of 50 Rambouillet rams, 450 Rambouillet ewes, six Shorthorn bulls and a large number of thoroughbred hogs.

The purchase is being made by a Chinese prince and the stock secured is considered the best obtainable on the Pacific coast. The animals will be placed at the Imperial Experiment station at Mukden and will be in charge of W. S. Tomhave, who came to Portland to select the stock. He declares Manchuria is an ideal country for growing live stock.

ANDREW CARNEGIE.

CARDINAL GIBBONS
PEACE ADVOCATES AT BALTIMORE.

Baltimore, Md.—The third National Peace Congress which opened here May 3 and will continue throughout the week, started off auspiciously with an address by Andrew Carnegie. The incident of Mrs. Carnegie's illness was not generally known until after the address; in fact, Mr. Carnegie himself did not know of it until then.

Cardinal Gibbons will play an important part in the week's debate, as will also President Taft and other notables both from the United States and abroad.

Stains Inside a Bottle.

I tried various things to remove the yellow stain from the inside of my cut-glass water bottle, without satisfactory results, until, the other day, I put into the bottle two tablespoonfuls of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of salt, and two tablespoonfuls of uncooked rice, and after a vigorous shaking two or three minutes, the bottle was clear and clean.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

Drink Chocolate in Church.

Mexican ladies are fond of chocolate. Even in church they have it brought to them, and drink it during the service.

After Money.

Hill—I see that one out of every ten letters passing through the Russian post office is opened on general principles.

Jill—Good. There isn't money in as many as that, is there?—Yonkers Statesman.

IN THE THICK OF THE FIGHT.

Editor.—The rebel Gen. Colonel Jose

Garibaldi acquitted himself with unusual honor throughout the recent engagement when the insurgents captured Juarez. He is regarded as one of the strong leaders in the Mexican war.

"Line Upon Line."

Step by step one goes very far.—French Proverb.

Depressing Discovery.

"Did you learn anything while you were in the east?" asked Pluto Peto. "I should say I did," replied Droncho Bob. "I went to a cowboy play and found out that the costumes and dialect we fellows are using out here are all wrong."
